CARAL, THE OLDEST CITY IN AMERICA

Full day excursion. These archaeological remains that have changed the history of Peru, were built 5,000 years ago, the same era as when the cities of Mesopotamia, the Sakara pyramid in Egypt, markets in India and the first cities of China were built. The archaeological complex of Caral comprises pyramidal buildings with floors rising over 150 m, stone platforms of over 600 m, walls up to 20 m high, large squares and different groups of residential houses and public buildings, deep sunken squares, stairs, monoliths, terraces, temples and altars. In the surrounding area fields were cultivated for agricultural use, irrigation channels built and agricultural crops developed, etc., all of which indicates that Caral was one of the largest complexes of the earliest civilizations of America. Note: closed on Mondays.
